Computational Fluid and Particle Dynamics in the Human Respiratory System

traditional research methodologies in the human respiratory system have always been challenging due to their invasive nature recent advances in medical imaging and computational fluid dynamics cfd have accelerated this research this book compiles and details recent advances in the modelling of the respiratory system for researchers engineers scientists and health practitioners it breaks down the complexities of this field and provides both students and scientists with an introduction and starting point to the physiology of the respiratory system fluid dynamics and advanced cfd modeling tools in addition to a brief introduction to the physics of the respiratory system and an overview of computational methods the book contains best practice guidelines for establishing high quality computational models and simulations inspiration for new simulations can be gained through innovative case studies as well as hands on practice using pre made computational code last but not least students and researchers are presented the latest biomedical research activities and the computational visualizations will enhance their understanding of physiological functions of the respiratory system

The Metabolism of Tumours: Updated Version

this is the updated version of dr otto warburg s classic the metabolism of tumours the updated version is in epub format which is easier to read on smartphones and tablets it also includes photos and a brief biography of dr warburg in his own words there are prime and secondary causes of diseases for example the prime cause of the plague is the plague bacillus but secondary causes of the plague are filth rats and the fleas that transfer the plague bacillus from rats to man by a prime cause of a disease i mean one that is found in every case of the disease cancer above all other diseases has countless secondary causes but even for cancer there is only one prime cause summarized in a few words the prime cause of cancer is the replacement of the respiration of oxygen in normal body cells by a fermentation of sugar all normal body cells meet their energy needs by respiration of oxygen whereas cancer cells meet their energy needs in great part by fermentation all normal body cells are thus obligate aerobes whereas all cancer cells are partial anaerobes from the standpoint of the physics and chemistry of life this difference between normal and cancer cells is so great that one can scarcely picture a greater difference oxygen gas the donor of energy in plants and animals is dethroned in the cancer cells and replaced by an energy yielding reaction of the lowest living forms namely a fermentation of glucose if a lowered oxygen pressure during cell growth may cause cancer or more generally if any inhibition of respiration during growth may cause cancer then a next problem is to show why reduced respiration induces cancer since we already know that with a lowering of respiration fermentation results we can re express our question why does cancer result if oxygen respiration is replaced by fermentation the early history of life on our planet indicates that life existed on earth before the earth s atmosphere contained free oxygen gas the living cells must therefore have been fermenting cells then and as fossils show they were undifferentiated single cells only when free oxygen appeared in the atmosphere some billion years ago did the higher development of life set in to produce the plant and animal kingdoms from the fermenting undifferentiated single cells what the philosophers of life have called evolution créatrice has been and is therefore the work of oxygen the reverse process the dedifferentiation of life takes place today in greatest amount before our eyes in cancer development which is another expression for dedifferentiation to be sure cancer development takes place even in the presence of free oxygen gas in the atmosphere but this oxygen may not penetrate in sufficient quantity into the growing body cells or the respiratory apo enzymes of the growing body cells may not be saturated with the active groups in any case during the cancer development the oxygen respiration always falls fermentation appears and the highly differentiated cells are transformed to fermenting anaerobes which have lost all their body functions and retain only the now useless property of growth thus when respiration disappears life does not disappear but the meaning of life disappears and what remains are growing machines that destroy the body in which they grow

NCERT Solutions - Biology for Class 11th

ncert textbooks play the most vital role in developing student s understanding and knowledge about a subject and the concepts or topics covered under a particular subject keeping in mind this immense importance and significance of the ncert textbooks in mind arihant has come up with a unique book containing questions answers of ncert textbook based questions this book containing solutions to ncert textbook questions has been designed for the students studying in class xi following the ncert textbook for biology the present book has been divided into 22 chapters namely biological classification plant kingdom animal kingdom biomolecules mineral nutrition respiration in plants digestion absorption anatomy of flowering plants cell cycle cell division respiration in plants body fluids circulation morphology of flowering plants locomotion movement etc covering the syllabi of biology for class xi this book has been worked out with an aim of overall development of the students in such a way that it will help students define the way how to write the answers of the textbook based questions the book covers selected ncert exemplar problems which will help the students understand the type of questions and answers to be expected in the class xi biology examination also each chapter in the book begins with a summary of the chapter which will help in effective understanding of the theme of the chapter and to make sure that the students will be able to answer all popular questions concerned to a particular chapter whether it is long answer type or short answer type question for the overall benefit of students the book has been designed in such a way that it not only gives solutions to all the exercises but also gives detailed explanations which will help the students in learning the concepts and will enhance their thinking and learning abilities as the book has been designed strictly according to the ncert textbook of biology for class xi and contains simplified text material in the form of class room notes and answers to all the questions in lucid language it for sure will help the class xi students in an effective way for biology

Stride Ahead with Science – 7

1 it is designed in accordance with the latest guidelines laid by ncert for classes 1 to 8 2 aims to inculcate inquisitiveness and passion for learning 3 the chapters are designed in a manner that leads to comprehensive learning of concepts development of investigative and scientific skills and the ability to probe into problems and find a possible solution 4 the content of the series is supported by alluring illustrations and attractive layout to lend to the visual appeal and also to enhance the learning experience 5 a clear comprehensive list of learning objectives at the beginning of each chapter 6 a kick off activity at the beginning of each chapter to set the pace for learning 7 hand on activities presented using the scientific methodology of having a clear aim and materials required along with recording and discussing the task at hand 8 a section on in real life at the end of each chapter imparts value education and helps the learners become a better citizen 9 evaluation tools in the form of test papers and model test papers in classes 1 to 5 and periodic assessments half yearly paper and a yearly paper in classes 6 to 8

excerpt it was a quiet summer morning the sun stood already pretty high in the clear sky but the fields were still sparkling with dew a fresh breeze blew fragrantly from the scarce awakened valleys and in the forest still damp and hushed the birds were merrily carolling their morning song on the ridge of a swelling upland which was covered from base to summit with blossoming rye a little village was to be seen along a narrow by road to this little village a young woman was walking in a white muslin gown and a round straw hat with a parasol in her hand a page boy followed her some distance behind she moved without haste and as though she were enjoying the walk the high nodding rye all round her moved in long softly rustling waves taking here a shade of silvery green and there a ripple of red the larks were trilling overhead the young woman had come from her own estate which was not more than a mile from the village to which she was turning her steps her name was alexandra pavlovna lipin she was a widow childless and fairly well off and lived with her brother a retired cavalry officer sergei pavlitch volintsev he was unmarried and looked after her property alexandra pavlovna reached the village and stopping at the last hut a very old and low one she called up the boy and told him to go in and ask after the health of its mistress he quickly came back accompanied by a decrepit old peasant with a white beard well how is she asked alexandra pavlovna well she is still alive began the old man can i go in of course yes alexandra pavlovna went into the hut it was narrow stifling and smoky inside some one stirred and began to moan on the stove which formed the bed alexandra pavlovna looked round and discerned in the half darkness the yellow wrinkled face of the old woman tied up in a checked handkerchief covered to the very throat with a heavy overcoat she was breathing with difficulty and her wasted hands were twitching alexandra pavlovna went close up to the old woman and laid her fingers on her forehead it was burning hot how do you feel matrona she inquired bending over the bed oh oh groaned the old woman trying to make her out bad very bad my dear my last hour has come my darling god is merciful matrona perhaps you will be better soon did you take the medicine i sent you the old woman groaned painfully and did not answer she had hardly heard the question she has taken it said the old man who was standing at the door alexandra pavlovna turned to him is there no one with her but you she inquired there is the girl her granddaughter but she always keeps away she won t sit with her she s such a gad about to give the old woman a drink of water is too much trouble for her and i am old what use can i be shouldn t she be taken to me to the hospital no why take her to the hospital she would die just the same she has lived her life it s god s will now seemingly she will never get up again how could she go to the hospital if they tried to lift her up she would die oh moaned the sick woman my pretty lady don t abandon my little orphan our master is far away but you she could not go on she had spent all her strength in saying so much do not worry yourself replied alexandra pavlovna everything shall be done here is some tea and sugar i have brought you if you can fancy it you must drink some have you a samovar i wonder she added looking at the old man a samovar we haven t a samovar but we could get one then get one or i will send you one and tell your granddaughter not to leave her like this tell her it s shameful the old man made no answer but took the parcel of tea and sugar with both hands well good bye matrona said alexandra pavlovna i will come and see you again and you must not lose heart but take your medicine regularly the old woman raised
