for the spirit being somewhat forgotten is an occupational hazard the holy spirit is so actively involved in our lives that we can take his presence for granted as they say familiarity breeds contempt just as we take breathing for granted we can take the holy spirit for granted simply because we constantly depend on him like the cane that soon feels like an extension of the blind man s own body we too easily begin to think of the holy spirit as an extension of ourselves yet the spirit is at the center of the action in the divine drama from genesis 1 2 all the way to revelation 22 17 the spirit s work is as essential as the father s and the son s yet the spirit s work is always directed to the person and work of christ in fact the efficacy of the holy spirit s mission is measured by the extent to which we are focused on christ the holy spirit is the person of the trinity who brings the work of the father in the son to completion in everything that the triune god performs this perfecting work is characteristic of the spirit in rediscovering the holy spirit author pastor and theologian mike horton introduces readers to the neglected person of the holy spirit showing that the work of god s spirit is far more ordinary and common than we realize horton argues that we need to take a step back every now and again to focus on the spirit himself his person and work in order to recognize him as someone other than jesus or ourselves much less something in creation through this contemplation we can gain a fresh dependence on the holy spirit in every area of our lives this monumental commentary on the book of revelation originally published in 1999 has been highly acclaimed by scholars pastors students and others seriously interested in interpreting the apocalypse for the benefit of the church too often revelation is viewed as a book only about the future as g k beale shows however revelation is not merely a futurology but a book about how the church should live for the glory of god throughout the ages including our own engaging important questions concerning the interpretation of revelation in scholarship today as well as interacting with the various viewpoints scholars hold on these issues beale s work makes a major contribution in the much debated area of how the old testament is used in the apocalypse approaching revelation in terms of its own historical background and literary character beale argues convincingly that john s use of old testament allusions and the way the jewish exegetical tradition interpreted these same allusions provides the key for unlocking the meaning of revelation s many obscure metaphors in the course of beale s careful verse by verse exegesis which also untangles the logical flow of john s thought as it develops from chapter to chapter it becomes clear that revelation s challenging pictures are best understood not by apparent technological and contemporary parallels in the twentieth century but by old testament and jewish parallels from the distant past the reformed two kingdom project has generated a great deal of literature however this literature is often characterized by inflamed rhetoric further though it is standard fare to assume that kline was the architect of the project in reality there has been very little scholarly examination of this point in response kline s system is analyzed through the means of a dialectical discourse with three differing models within the reformed tradition the theonomist perspectivalist and dooyeweerdian schools through this means the study keeps away from surface level polemics and instead directs readers to the critically important substructural level of current discussions while clarifying some of the key differences between kline and his interlocutors often overlooked points of nuance are also highlighted these points are shown to be important in that they present the potential to lessen frustration and impasse in the ongoing dialogue
