in an increasingly harmonized global patent landscape few issues still distinguish the us patent system as much as its strict and often criticized duty of candor and its inequitable conduct doctrine the epo and most other countries around the world impose less burdensome disclosure duties upon patent applicants what is there to learn from the experience in the us have these tools resulted in any benefit worth considering yet regardless of the disclosure duties imposed upon patent applicants a deceptive conduct before the patent office could lead to unwarranted exclusive rights and have a negative impact on competition should antitrust law intervene is it a case of sham litigation this work attempts to answer those questions through a comparative analysis examining the law and case law in the us and in the eu from both a patent and a competition law perspective and seeking a workable theory of harm in recent years european community ec competition law has come under fire continued criticism of all aspects of the means by which ec competition law is enforced has brought to light ineffectiveness of the present system consequently the european commission has responded by issuing the white paper on modernisation which sets out its vision on the future of ec competition law this new book takes a step back and tries to understand the current challenges to ec competition policy by examining the origins of the community s competition law system in the first part of the book the author sketches the development of community competition law enforcement between the european economic community established in 1958 and the european union of today taking this dynamic perspective on ec competition law the second part of the book addresses topical problems of ec competition policy the pertinent objectives the institutional framework the division of jurisdiction between the community and member states and decentralised enforcement of community law notably the author s conclusions diverge considerably from the analysis found in the commission white paper on modernisation the author proposes various alternative solutions to the existing problems which arguably fit better within the overall constitutional development of the community than the solutions offered by the commission the book will be of interest to competition lawyers as well as to all those interested in the constitutional development of the european community
